

Legal firm boosts competitive advantage

Legal firm Brock & Scott wanted to improve collaboration within its office and across its organization as a means of improving customer service and office efficiency.

The company chose to use Microsoft Power BI to take advantage of data visualization and cloud capabilities.

The result: The company can update business metrics every night on its intranet and collaborate almost anywhere, anytime. They've also increased productivity in the office and courthouse.

Learn more

Find and capitalize on the best opportunities

Back to solution slide

"We're using Office 365 to help boost our competitive advantage and build our business."

Steve Henley, Chief Technology Officer,
Brock & Scott

-  Gives attorneys the ability to share best practices across 17 offices in the southeastern United States
-  Lets partners monitor their case loads and billing activities on different devices
-  Provides access to the same file structures and versions across all locations with DFSR replication

